Published on Reclink Australia (https://reclink.org)

Work Readiness Project Supervisors - Calling for expressions of interest [1]

6 August 2015

Reclink Australia is currently rolling out a number of Work Readiness projects across Melbourne and Geelong and is looking to appoint suitable people as Project Supervisors for each site.

Do you:

- Have experience in managing practical hands-on group or trade based programs & ability to manage small teams?
- Have a passion for job preparation & skill development initiatives & working with people who experience significant barriers to employment?
- Enjoy sharing your trade knowledge & skills and helping others develop their self-confidence and competency to use basic hand tools safely in accordance with OH&S requirements?
- Have well developed verbal/written communication & customer service skills and ability to initiate and maintain effective working relationships with a range of key stakeholders?

Successful applicant will have

- Relevant trade qualifications & experience in Community &/or Employment Services preferred.
- Current Victorian drivers licence essential.
- Police check will be required.

If you meet these criteria we would love to hear from you ASAP, so please email your resume to chris.lacey@reclink.org [2] with a letter expressing your interest.

Tags

Work readiness [3]
Employment [4]
Training [5]
Mentoring [6]

Source URL: https://reclink.org/news/work-readiness-project-supervisors-calling-expressions-interest

Links

[1] https://reclink.org/news/work-readiness-project-supervisors-calling-expressions-interest
[2] mailto:chris.lacey@reclink.org
[3] https://reclink.org/tags/work-readiness
[4] https://reclink.org/tags/employment
[5] https://reclink.org/tags/training
[6] https://reclink.org/tags/mentoring