Summary

Reclink Australia is committed to improving the health outcomes and wellbeing of indigenous communities with whom we work. Over the past 10 years Reclink has been delivering a diverse range of individual and structured sport and recreation programs in Wiluna in WA, and Alice Springs in the Northern Territory.

Content

Reclink Australia is committed to improving the health outcomes and wellbeing of indigenous communities with whom we work.

Over the past 10 years Reclink has been delivering a diverse range of individual and structured sport and recreation programs in Wiluna in WA, and Alice Springs in the Northern Territory.

These programs are supported by local indigenous elders, mentors, families, and volunteers - all of whom we are extremely grateful to for their assistance.

Contact Reclink Australia on indigenousprograms@reclink.org for more information.